FRANKLIN ELECTRIC PUMP SELECTOR

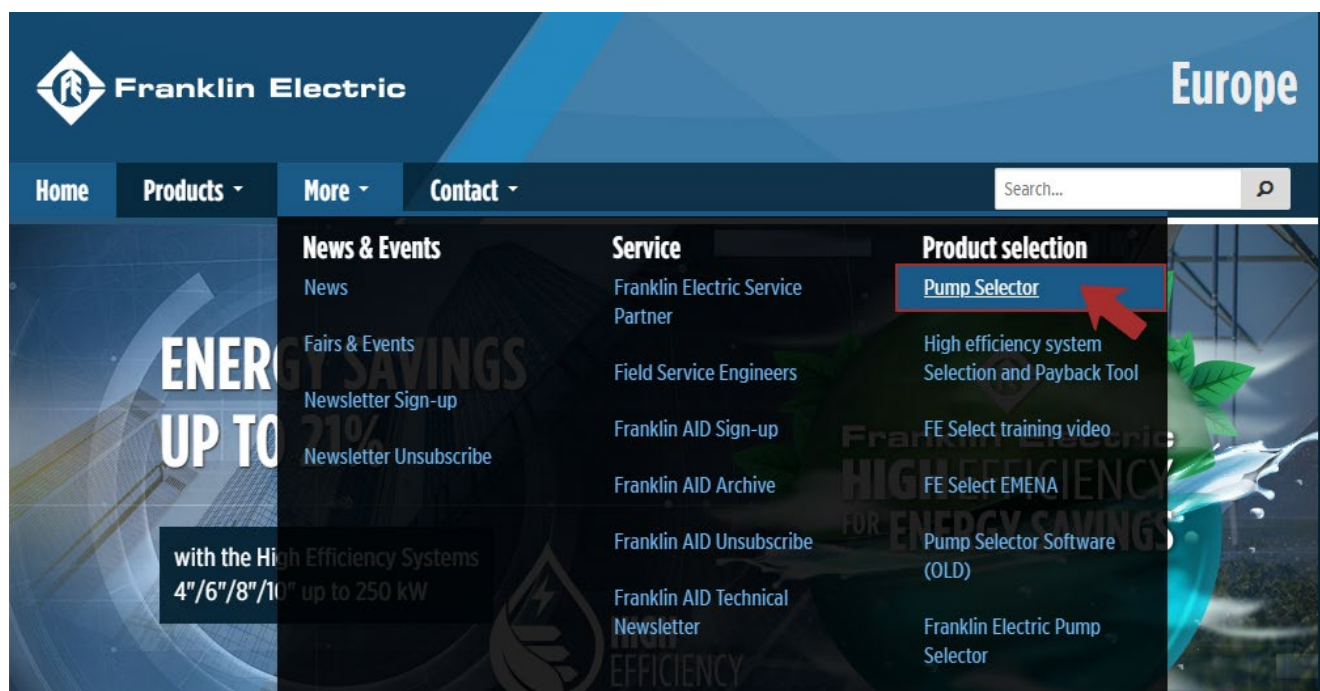

New Franklin Electric Pump Selector now online

We are glad to present our new online sizing tool that allows to make selections of Franklin Electric products and generates data sheets for your pumping systems.

- SELECTION
- GENERATING DATA SHEETS

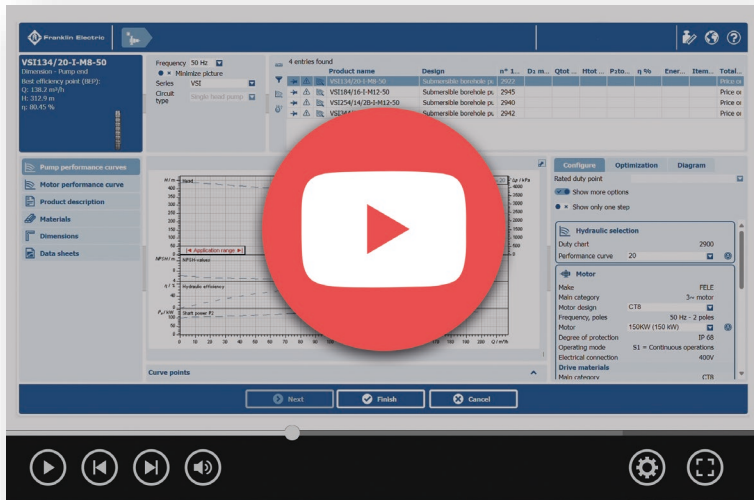

Now the VSI Submersible pumps product range is available for selection. Shortly further product series will follow. The tool will soon be expanded to include a configuration function that allows the entire pump system to be planned in detail.

You can access the tool on our website or directly on fele-selector.com:

The tool can be used without prior registration. However, we invite you to register so that you can use all functions and we can inform you as soon as further products are available.

You can find further information and a detailed description of the application in this Tutorial video on our Youtube channel:
